

THE URUSAK DEVICE OF LIFE-GIVING WATER AND ENLIGHTENED MASTERY

In the language of the Anra, the group from the Pleiadean star race that gifted this device to humanity, Urusak can be translated as: Waters of Life, and it is the technology to restore water to its original blueprint as life-giving substance for the benefit and healing of all beings on Earth.

The Seer Almine received this technology from the Anra in 2010, to assist humanity, but it is not until now that its full power could be understood and wielded. The Anra are most eager to have this alchemical device used to heal the waters of the planet presently, but also very importantly, to heal the body and support us to establish in a fluid body of wholeness.

While the device's ability to turn water into 'holy', aware water that heals and evolves the body is certainly a major feature of the technology, it is also a tool of enlightened mastery. When its alchemy is understood and cooperated with, accelerated evolution can take place.

Earth is the central fractal pattern for the whole Cosmos. It is the 'jewel' upon which the Infinite's Embodiment is taking place, though none have eyes to see this yet. Earth is the planet with the most diversity and is home of humanity that is the root race for all cosmic star races. And so what happens on Earth is of utmost concern to all the star races, for were humanity to perish, likely so would they. And along that vein, were humanity to thrive and leap into its next evolutionary template, many hostile star races would cease to be, and this is why an unseen battle is being waged on the earth, to prevent the 'great awakening'.

Hostility in life is only possible when there are tones in our song of Self that are suppressed. Where there is suppression, a mirror forms and mirrors invert and distort. The resolution to the state of the world is to become more authentic and whole in our expression, because that 'disappears' the hostile agendas of shadow beings.

We are in the 5th cycle of the human design template, if you will, and in order to fulfill the purpose of this cycle and move beyond, enabling a new expression of humanity to take place, the tones and qualities of all four kingdoms of the Earth – mineral, plant, animal, and humanity – must be lived and embodied in those awakening to their role at this time. The Urusak Water device has the alchemy for this to take place. It is a Device that turns water into living, aware, life-giving substance that is supportive in evolving the body into a unified field of crystalline, fluid tonal luminosity.

Why focus on the Four Kingdoms of the Earth?

These make up the infrastructure for life in form. When the tones of the Kingdoms are suppressed, a hostile reality traps consciousness, and when the tones are expressed, the true Dream of the Infinite... the reality of limitlessness supports the expansion and evolution of consciousness.

Form is the 'garment' of expression of our vastness (formlessness), and formlessness is the substance of infinity to express with. The material world is not meant to be static; when it is filled with awareness it becomes fluid formless form. It is time for this to happen now. The Urusak is a tool assisting us to fluidity in body that can then manifest a fluid, ever-changing environment.

In mastering its alchemy that involves the four Kingdoms of the Earth among other components, we fulfill the high destiny of expressing a new holographic reality for all life on Earth, one in which the Infinite Source of Existence can be heard by all. Infinite's guidance will increasingly imbue all matter elevated to fluid, incorruptible, aware Matter.

The alchemy of the Urusak results in the mastery of the first four chakras, which when expressed at their higher functioning, enable the manifestation of a 'real', self-sovereign environment that is no longer influenced by the 'fallen' collective sub-creation of Artificial Intelligence.

- Those who use the Urusak Water device are assisted to attune to the true reality of the Infinite, and life will be experienced as gentler, more synchronistic with forward evolution, and graceful in its unfolding.
- Every time the living waters are produced with the Urusak Water device, the song in your body's cells are cleared of programs, and increasingly the cells open as clear transmitters and receivers of Divine Intent. Manifesting the Heart's true desires on paths of destiny then becomes inevitable.
- Those who cooperate with its alchemy by studying and embodying the components, step up as co-creators - participants in expressing life anew. For those, your life becomes a proxy for all life.

The Urusak Water device can be used by anyone to create personalized healing waters that will address imbalances in the body, on all levels: physical, emotional, mental, and spiritual levels (PEMS). It will restore harmony and homeostasis, and change the cellular structure to release the unreal matrices and become a transmitter and receiver of Divine Intent. As the cells change their 'song', so life is shaped anew, as an expression of the true Self that is part of the One.

In the hands of those awakening as High Alchemists, the Urusak Water device holds tremendous power to heal the waters of the earth, and establish intercommunication on the planet that involves all Four Kingdoms (mineral, plant, animal, and man) in perfect interconnectedness and one-mindedness (telepathy).

Pure water with the blueprint of life intact, is key to opening up the physical body to its cosmic memory and origins. The body can then enter into accelerated healing, as the blueprints of all every part of it are directly communicated from the DNA.

Transmissions from the Urusak

"Earth is our home. We return home to this planet (they call it Inridana) and bring gifts. The first one we give is how to make water that brings the song of your cells into purity. The heart-song of humanity must sing in perfect resonance through all cells in your body.

Humans hold the song of all life within them. When the human song and the cosmic song are in perfect harmony, the mastery of man is restored. He can change his environment by accentuating parts of the music within him.

The alchemical equation for the water helps to restore the proper notes to the first, second, third and fourth chakras. These notes awaken the magic of these centers and as you speak with the voice of mastery, you draw your voice not from the throat but all the way from the root.

The environment will respond when your voice, filled with magic, speaks with the tones of Creation that sing like music in your cells. For the restoration of the song of the cells, we bring the way to make the water.

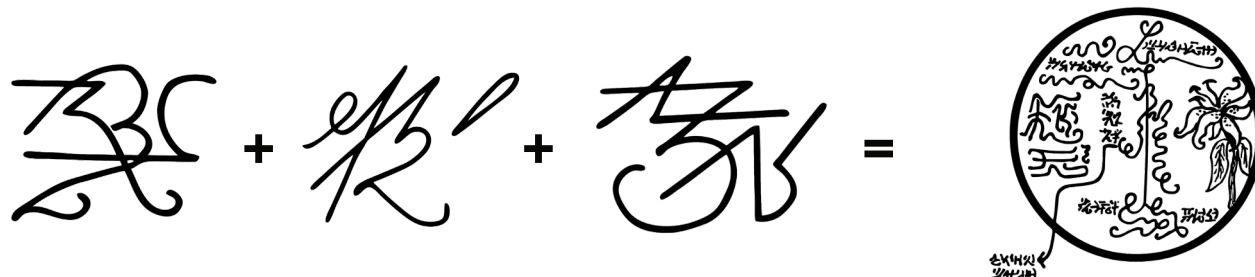

When you wish to find the way, you need only find the song of your destination and then sing the song of it to the stones. They will reply with the notes that will lead you there. There are few indigenous people who know how to find their way by the song of the stones. But the earth is new because it has been reborn and the songs of the stones have changed. Birds and animals also are getting lost because they remember the old songs."

The Song of the Cells

From the Seer Almine's large body of work, we know that attitude shapes reality, and in particular there are three ascension attitudes that increase a person's awareness and power to manifest. So powerful are these attitudes that they are a direct part of the preparation of the water, to get it to a high vibe state, so that the results with the Urusak device are optimized. In changing the water and the fluids in our body, and by proxy the waters of the Earth, we are changing all of reality, moving it to ever higher orders of expression, by degrees.

These three attitudes are Love, Praise and Gratitude, and together they leverage the power to produce Adoration in Action.

From the Seer¹,

“Adoration is not fully understood because it is seen through the filter of duality. It is assumed to be an external focus on another – a deity or another person for which excessive love is felt. Those of higher consciousness struggle with this concept because it seems like a forsaking of the self; a disempowering notion that could become a substitute for truly engaging in one’s own life’s experiences.

Furthermore, the term ‘adoration in action’ implies that acts of devotion are done for another to demonstrate the degree of adoration felt. But adoration is not a feeling; it is a condition of the cells that enables the will of the Divine to broadcast through them and to be interpreted into experience.

In someone of lower consciousness, the nucleus of the cell is small and round. This is surrounded by the body of the cell, where cellular memory is stored. All components of the cell are contained within a membrane.

When divine compassion, praise and gratitude are simultaneously lived and felt, their joint expression creates a metamorphoses in the cellular structure: The nucleus explodes like a super-nova, erasing the cellular memory that programs us to repeat past cycles of mediocre experience.

When any part of expression does not evolve to higher, more complex forms of expression, yesterday’s excellence becomes today’s mediocrity. By erasing cellular programs, we graduate to the higher life of divinity that enables us to receive and articulate the unfolding plan of perfection generated by Source: Divine Intent.

The change in the cellular nucleus, which now fills the cell, is described in ancient records as ‘becoming the doorway of everything’. It now acts as a receptor, capacitor, and broadcaster of Divine Intent, facilitating the release of a new hormone the scrolls call: the god-hormone. The further change in cellular structure is the thinning of the outer membrane to allow its messages to be emitted.

Alchemy is an equation of leveraged results. In the physical 1 + 1 can be as much as 96, but frequency and light (which is accumulated perception) can be leveraged much higher. The attitudes of love, praise and gratitude when added together can add up to the state of adoration in action, the metamorphoses of a being into the divine state of godhood – a state of being the clear and refined instrument of interpreting the Will of the Infinite.”

Adoration in Action produces the state of trust in life's perfection. When we cease opposing and surrender to life as it is, it moves through us to carry us aloft to higher potentials. When Love, Praise, and Gratitude are lived and embodied, the four lower chakras clear to a large degree, and we are able to speak our life into being without layers of interference from distorted needs and agenda of the small self. All life responds to the authentic Song of Self when the lower chakras are cleared of debris and the cells are free of memory of past stories and obsolete cycles.

When what we speak is in resonance with the song of the cells, we are in deep inner harmony and clear intent. It is then that the Voice becomes a sound healing device, *"a blessing of our infinite self... breath, sound and prana become one... alchemically fused."*² All the Kingdoms of the Earth serve those whose words and intentions come from indivisible Oneness.

In this regard, the Urusak Water device is said to be a Tool for Enlightened Mastery.

And now consider the full potency of what this alchemical device assists with:

- As the cells receive and transmit Divine Intent, we magnetize to ourselves, a reality that is deeply resonant to the desires of the Heart and our divine covenant.
- In a reality that is in resonant harmony with us, we are inspired to express more boldly and fully, such that we leave all prior paradigms and continually lean into unknown portions of our vastness.
- Environment and Self are now in a perfect evolutionary dance of ever greatness, and the Song of the Cells in resonant harmony with the Song of Self becomes a Song of wholeness... a completion and union of the Divine with its Unique Individuations. And we know that in wholeness, all of life receives the blessings of Presence.
